

QuickStudy®

Merge has created hundreds of communications campaigns for clinical trials throughout the world. While many of the studies we support have the lead time and budget for original, custom creative, some do not. All studies deserve quality communications, even those that have tighter timelines and smaller budgets. That's why we created QuickStudy.

Choose from a variety of pre-designed concepts.

QuickStudy allows teams to select from pre-designed, easily customizable, high quality templates that have been created for a wide range of therapeutic areas.

Choose from a variety of layout styles and concepts, based on your specific disease state and patient population. For example, if you need posters for a pediatric asthma study, you'd be able to review and select QuickStudy messages are ideal for on-demand digital printing and global studies that require a concept that can be tailored to each country.

a message from multiple concepts within days, not weeks. Headlines, descriptive copy, and images are easily customizable to fit your particular needs.

Looking for a fast, effective formula for high quality study campaigns? QuickStudy is just what you need.
